Subject: Social Progress Project
November 9-15, 2008

Hello,

As a part of the Legacy Unlimited mission, each year we select organizations with which to partner to work together for social progress. This partnership allows us to make endowments and volunteer to projects that are making an effort to change the world.

In 2006, we were blessed to finance a micro-bank in Africa that enables women from small villages to start businesses in their communities.

In 2007, we partnered with New Orleans Habitat for Humanity and had a team working on building 2 homes in the Saint Bernard Parish.

In 2008 we will again partner with Habitat for Humanity-New Orleans, helping to re-build the city of New Orleans. Our team was amazed at how much work was needed in 2007 and will be needed for many years to come.

If you believe as we do, that this project will make a difference for the city of New Orleans, we would love for you to join us.

Here are the initial details:

The week that we are planning to go to New Orleans is November 9-15, 2008. You are welcome to invite whomever you would like (the more, the merrier!). Once we know how many are interested, we will work on transportation and rooming; however, everyone must pay their own way.

Here is the project description from Habitat for Humanity:

Habitat-New Orleans-Our fall construction project is building homes throughout the New Orleans area, in conjunction with our partner families, to provide decent, affordable housing to New Orleans area residents. Our construction sites are new construction and require no experience. Our training is all done on site and volunteers are encouraged to try out new skills. Until right before your arrival, the exact location of your assigned worksite may change as we move to different areas of the city. We appreciate patience with the exact details of your volunteer experience.

Housing:

Camp Hope Reservations. We are very excited about the opening of Camp Hope, which is a school that has been converted into a housing unit for volunteers. You will be approximately twenty minutes from New Orleans. You will need to arrange for your own transportation, there are rental car discounts available and taxi and carpooling information in the attachments. The camp has rooms with 14-30 volunteers on bunk beds or cots. Rooms are divided by gender. Showers, restrooms, and laundry facilities are available. The weekly cost for use of the facilities and three meals a day is $100, the daily rate is $20. The address is 6701 E. St. Bernard Hwy in Violet, LA 70092

If you are interested in volunteering as the part of the Legacy Unlimited team to work November 9-15, 2008 in New Orleans, please reply to cfetzer@legacyunlimited.net by September 1, 2008.

Come, partner with us to change the world!
